

Community Hospital supports and protects patients' inherent rights to be informed, to have choices, to have their privacy protected, and to be treated with dignity and respect. This document details those rights within our facility, as well as the responsibilities patients have in being an active partner in their own health care.

PATIENT RIGHTS

At Community Hospital, every patient or his/her legal representative making decisions for the patient, has the right to:

1. Impartial access to treatment, regardless of race, religion, gender, sexual orientation, ethnicity, age, or disability. We will respect and support each patient's dignity, individuality, preferences, and cultural, psychosocial, spiritual and personal beliefs within the limits of Community Hospital's Mission and Values.
2. Be fully informed in advance, and to make informed decisions about care or treatment and to actively participate in the planning of his/her care. This includes the right to obtain information, in a manner easily understood, about the health status, diagnosis, treatment, prognosis, the risks and benefits of treatment or procedures, the alternatives to care, and the length of recuperative period expected.
3. Accept or refuse any medical or surgical treatment and to be informed of the consequences of such a decision. This includes the right to forgo or withdraw life-sustaining treatment, or to withhold resuscitative (CPR) services.
4. Request specific treatment. This right does not mean that the hospital will agree to provide treatment or services that are determined to be medically unnecessary or inappropriate.
5. Receive pain relief and to obtain information regarding pain management.
6. Freely voice complaints and recommended changes without being subjected to coercion, discrimination, or retaliation.
7. Have a family member or representative of his/her choice and his/her own physician notified promptly of his/her admission to the hospital.
8. Be accommodated for pastoral and other spiritual services.
9. Exercise his/her rights without coercion, discrimination, or retaliation.
10. Receive care in a safe environment. This includes encouraging the patient's active involvement in his/her own care as a safety strategy.

Great People,
Great Care,
Great Choice

11. Be informed of his/her rights in advance of furnishing or discontinuing care, whenever possible.
12. Be fully informed of and consent to or refuse to participate in any unusual, experimental, or research project without compromising his/her care and services. The patient's acceptance of, or refusal of, treatment will be upheld to the extent permitted by law. The patient shall be informed of any unusual or experimental procedures.
13. Know the professional status of any person providing his/her care or services. All employees will introduce themselves to the patient and their families when performing duties related to patient care.
14. Know the reason for any proposed changes in professional staff responsible for the patient's care.
15. Access information contained in his/her clinical records. Upon written request, a copy of the patient's medical record can be provided for a fee.
16. Be free from restraints and seclusion of any form that are not medically or behaviorally necessary. Restraints will not be used as a means of coercion, discipline, convenience, or retaliation.
17. Be free from mental, physical, sexual and verbal abuse or harassment, and from neglect or exploitation.
18. Be accorded every consideration of privacy. Every reasonable effort will be made to ensure the patient's privacy during interviews and examinations throughout his/her hospital stay.
19. Have the confidentiality of his/her clinical records maintained by the facility. Access to the medical records shall be limited to the patient, individuals directly involved with the patient's care, individuals monitoring the quality of patient care and those individuals authorized by law or regulatory agency.
20. Exercise advance directives in accordance with federal and state laws, and to have hospital staff and practitioners who provide care in the hospital comply with these directives. The patient will be provided written information about advance directives upon admission, and will receive education and assistance as needed in the execution of advance directives. The patient will also have the right to informed consent regarding organ and tissue donations. The existence or lack of advance directives does not, however, determine an individual's access to care, treatment, and services; individuals are not required to have an advance directive.
21. Be informed of the need for his/her transfer either within or outside the facility. If the patient requests or requires medical care in a different setting, he/she will be transferred to the appropriate setting where his/her needs can be met. This also includes the right of the patient to collaborate in all decisions pertaining to care after discharge. Discharge planning services will be provided as needed.

23. Access cost information, itemized when possible, of services rendered within a reasonable amount of time. Each patient may request an itemized bill of charges through the Business Office (970-257-6200). The Business Office and Patient Representative (970-256-6291) are available to clarify billing issues at the patient's request.
24. Be informed of the source of the facility's reimbursement for the patient's care and any limitations which may be placed upon his/her care.
